Delivering the “Stork Pile”

The Junior League of Greater Winter Haven presented baskets of essential supplies to new mothers at Winter Haven Women’s Hospital on Feb. 27. The “Stork Pile” project was created after members recognized the need for it in the community.

The items in the baskets were donated by Junior League members and local businesses and organizations.

“Many of us are mothers ourselves and understand how stressful the first few months with a newborn can be. We wanted to create a project that would help give mothers in need and their babies the best possible start,” said Anna Bostick, Junior League president.

Many Junior League members and their children (all of whom were born in Winter Haven Women’s Hospital) were on hand to personally deliver a new basket to new mom, Nafesah Bland and her newborn, Sir’Ree Bland.
